

How to Get Set Up for the 2014 BE-180 and Request an Extension if Needed

For instructions on how to get set up for the 2014 BE-180 and to request an extension if one is needed, click on one of the links below.

We encourage respondents without BE-180 identification numbers to get set up in our eFile system even if they are not planning to eFile their reports, as the information provided during the process will allow us to create BE-180 identification numbers for new U.S. Reporters.

Instructions for respondents who were not notified of the BE-180 survey by BEA and do not have a BE-180 identification number

To get a BE-180 identification number for a new U.S. Reporter, you will need to provide some company information. This information is being collected through BEA’s eFile system. To complete this process, follow the steps below.

Step 1: Set up an eFile user account –

Begin at www.bea.gov/efile

Even if you have used eFile to file other BEA surveys, if you have not created a user account in the eFile system since December 2014, please register for a new user account.
